Why Join TI:ME?

TI:ME'S Four Primary Initiatives:

1. TI:ME Courses: Through TI:ME, teachers have enrolled in our unique for-credit courses (both masters and inservice), where educators from across the country converge to learn from the industry's leading professionals. The courses are designed to help teachers keep up with the fast-paced field of music technology. Teachers learn strategies and methods to help make music technology an integral part of their personal life and school curriculum. Taught by the country's most in-demand technology instructors in a hands-on environment, these courses are an intense, yet supportive way to learn about music technology. Enrolled teachers conservatively stated that as a result of a TI:ME course, their teaching effectiveness increased by at least 50%. Go to the TI:ME website and click on Workshops to find course information and locations. TI:ME certification is available for those interested.
2. National Conference: The TI:ME Conference is a unique opportunity for music educators to come together in a rich environment of technological innovation. Expert clinicians provide a wealth of information for novice, intermediate, and advanced users of technology. This meeting, which is held in different locations around the country, is the premier event for music educators in using technology in their teaching. Regional and state chapter conferences expand these educational opportunities.
3. TI:ME Website: This is your portal to lesson plans, teaching resources and online forums populated by other teachers, and industry professionals who devote their time to helping others. The TI:ME website is a repository of up-to-date materials, organized by level and national standards; you simply can't find this material anywhere else.
4. TI:ME Newsletters: Each month, TI:ME sends a one page, informative email newsletter. Several times a year, a printed newsletter is sent to all current members. These newsletters contain vital information about upcoming TI:ME events, relevant issues for TI:ME members, and informative links to music education technology-based websites.
